Our Ambitions

In our 2023-2027 strategy document, we set out our ambitions linked to the three strategic pillars of Clubs, Performance Pathway and Leadership, underpinned by four-year long-term outcomes.

There is a regional approach to local club support and investment into clubs for coaching and marketing tools to increase and sustain participation in club squash, and to support players progress along the player pathway, at local and regional level.

Inclusive

We will work together as Squash in Scotland to embrace everyone and provide equal opportunity to access and achieve within the sport.

Empowering

We will empower squash people as leaders, through increased awareness and understanding of each other's needs increased self-responsibility and personal accountability, leading to positive change and the achievement of shared goals.

Collaborative

We will value the input of all stakeholders, unifying as partners to drive a shared vision through agreed goals and actions.

Transparent

We will aim to listen to the needs of everyone by seeking feedback, observing, and evaluating our work and openly communicating any changes.

Welcome

As we move into the final year of our strategic plan, Together for Squash in Scotland, we continue our aim of creating a culture where everyone is working together for the development of squash across the country. In this annual report, we highlight and celebrate the achievements of the many individuals, clubs and teams who have contributed to the sport throughout the 2025–2026 season, including the outstanding efforts of players, coaches, referees, volunteers and everyone who helps deliver squash across Scotland.

The organisation has seen significant change in its leadership over the past 12 months, with a new executive team now in place: Paul Macari (CEO), Jennifer Barsby (Head of Development) and Paul Bell (Head of Performance & Pathway). Supported by a wider staff team of seven, they continue to drive forward the four-year outcomes and aspirations set out in our strategy. Despite ongoing challenges for our sport, including rising club costs, increasingly complex regulation for volunteers, and an ageing demographic, the past season delivered many positives that have continued the positive momentum for growing squash and racketball in Scotland.

The focus on supporting clubs to host new competitions produced a 9% growth in tournaments, 51 new coaches achieved their Level 1 qualification, our regions reported growth in league teams, and clubs reported a 2% overall increase in membership. RASTA racketball ran 10 tournaments across the country with a 26% growth in entrants from the previous season. Scotland were well represented throughout Europe, with 22 national teams across all age groups performing and playing with pride, whilst individuals from Junior, Senior and Masters categories won multiple national and European titles.

Growing women & girls participation remains one of our key objectives and the introduction of “Girls Play Squash” introduced 79 new players across the country, whilst WISPS continues to grow with 150 participants across 9 events. Our coaching network was boosted with 17 new female coaches and the newly formed Women & Girls coaching network ran three events with 27 attendees. Across Scottish schools, 205 pupils achieved their Squash Leaders Award and in clubs, junior tournaments increased by 9.

As always, we are enormously grateful to our lead investor, sportscotland, for their guidance and financial support. With the recent increase in funding from the Scottish Government, we are confident this investment will provide a lifeline to some of our clubs across the country, bringing increased coaching programmes, reduced volunteer administration and membership growth.

We are also indebted to our partners and commercial sponsors, without whom none of this would be possible. Our referees, coaches, volunteers, clubs and players have all contributed to so many fantastic achievements in the past season that means so much to our sport, and of which we should all be extremely proud.

Development Highlights

Schoolsquash & Squash Leaders

The Schoolsquash and Squash Leaders Award programmes continued to thrive throughout the season, maintaining a strong emphasis on building meaningful links between local schools and squash clubs.

- 205 pupils achieved their Squash Leaders Award (65/35 gender split)
- 875+ pupils introduced through Schoolsquash initiative

Club Support Forum

The club support forum has grown in strength during this season with clubs sharing best practice on key themes including “Organising Sanctioned Competitions” and “How to Grow Women & Girls Squash”

Local Authority Squash

New relationships were developed between Scottish Squash and Local Authorities, including Active Stirling, Active Clacks, Renfrewshire, Scottish Borders, Edinburgh Leisure, Active Dundee and Fife Sport and Leisure Trust. Through a more joined up approach, this better supports local clubs and squash sessions while growing the workforce to allow more Squash to be delivered

Club Support Fund

Following a new investment by sportscotland to help strengthen the club sports network in Scotland, 7 host squash clubs and 10 feeder clubs were successful in benefitting from the support. This will add circa 90 hours of coaching and development support per week across squash clubs in each region of the country.

Women and Girls

Two new targeted programmes were introduced during the season

- Girls Play Squash launched with 79 girls playing across 3 events
- Beginner sessions for ELREC run in Edinburgh & the Lothians

The new Squashmark accreditation scheme was piloted in Central region and will be introduced to all clubs for the 26/27 season

Competitions

The focus from Scottish Squash for the 25-26 season was to encourage more clubs to host their own competitions and during the season, five clubs hosted new tournaments. In total there was a 9% increase in competitions including 11 more junior tournaments in the season

PSA Events

Three PSA tournaments were hosted in Scotland during the season at Grange, Heriot-Watt & ESC

Some highlights from around the country.

- Introduction of the popular Girls Play Squash series, bringing together junior girls for a fun day of coaching and competition. Three events in 2025-26.
- Junior entry levels increased by 48%, in line with the number of sanctioned junior events which nearly doubled
- 5 new host clubs: Tyne District, Wick, Aberfeldy, Kinross and Whitecraigs

AGAINST OUR TARGETS

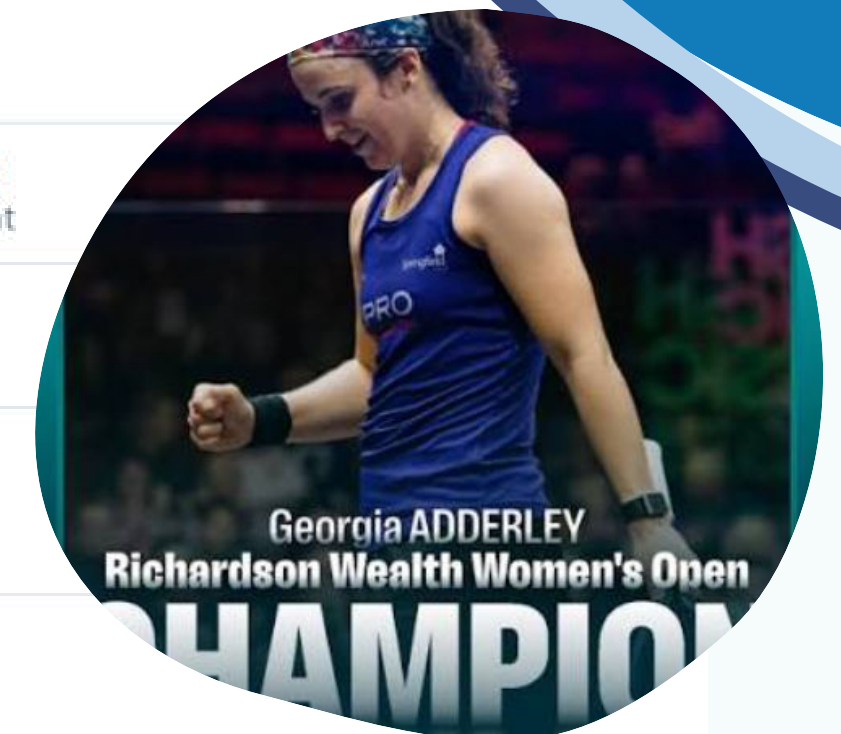

Delivering on the sportscotland performance commitments.

LONG-TERM OUTCOMES (2023-27) — DELIVERED EARLY

- ✓ A world top-20 player. Greg Lobban reached #16 this cycle; Georgia Adderley #22.
- ✓ 8+ under-21 players exposed to the PSA Tour. Pathway-depth target met.
- ✓ Performance pathway re-energised. New player development model designed and in use.

THIS SEASON'S ANNUAL TARGETS (2025-26)

- Under-21 wins a PSA Satellite title
Achieved — Rory Richmond, Torneo Città d'Italia
- Three pathway priorities identified, with plan
Achieved — planning, physical prep & coach development
- A new world top-20 player this year
Just short — Georgia #22, Greg #16 in-cycle
- Two under-25s in the world top 100
1 of 2 — Robyn & Ellie climbing toward it

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

The results rest on measurable, coached improvement.

8/9

continuing players improved their overall profile

+17

performance behaviours — the squad's biggest gain

+15

movement — second-largest area of development

+11

top movers: Richmond, McAlpine & Mackenzie

Priorities delivered: where a player set a development priority, that is where the profile moved — Ellie Jones gained +0.8 in movement (her stated priority) and Robyn McAlpine +0.7 in the tactical domain (hers). Evidence the development model is working as designed.
